

Former Senior DOJ Official and Congressional Chief of Staff joins Horizons Global Solutions

November 28, 2022

For Immediate Release

HUNTSVILLE, AL—The boutique government relations consulting firm Horizons Global Solutions (HGS) announced today that longtime Washington veteran Stephen E. Boyd is joining the firm as Partner. Boyd’s consulting practice will focus on aerospace, defense, intelligence, and investigative and law enforcement matters.

“Stephen in the quintessential Washington expert,” said David Lasseter, Founder and Partner at Horizons Global Solutions. “His career serving at the top echelons of both the Executive and Legislative Branches makes him elite, with few equals having this level of experience. We are ecstatic to have such a respectable and thoughtful professional joining our HGS team.”

Boyd brings nearly twenty years of high-level government experience to the firm and will provide clients with the perspective of a proven leader and former senior government official with a unique record of work. Boyd will draw from his service as a Presidentially nominated and Senate-confirmed Assistant Attorney General at the U.S. Department of Justice, a Chief of Staff in both the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives, and a Communications Director for a prestigious Senate committee.

“The way that Washington works has changed dramatically in the last two decades. Strong relationships will always matter, but to gain a strategic advantage today you must truly understand the decision-making process behind the scenes—not just on Capitol Hill but also at the highest levels of the Executive Branch, inside the legal and enforcement arena, and in media newsrooms,” Boyd said. “I’m excited to join HGS because the firm has the real-world Washington experience to navigate every area of policy making and implementation, and the agility to integrate with business leaders to seize strategic opportunities, build valuable relationships, and manage political risk.”

As Assistant Attorney General, Boyd was a senior leader of the Department and its top representative to Congress, making him responsible for developing and implementing bipartisan strategies to advance the Department’s anti-crime, anti-drug, and counterintelligence agenda in the House, Senate, and at the White House. Boyd worked extensively with two Attorneys General and the leadership of the FBI, ATF, DEA, and USMS, and personally coordinated the response to Congressional oversight investigations of the Department and its law enforcement components. Additionally, Boyd’s office prepared scores of witnesses for congressional hearings and guided numerous high-level nominees through the Senate confirmation process.

Boyd worked for 14 years on Capitol Hill, serving as Chief of Staff and top political and policy advisor in to members in both the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate.

“Every Member of Congress I’ve worked for served on either the House or the Senate armed services or appropriations committees. It was always the priority, and I’m proud of what we’ve accomplished over the years in the National Defense Authorization Act and annual funding bills to support America’s warfighter and keep our nation safe,” Boyd said. “I look forward to providing insight into that process to our clients, which will ultimately benefit our men and women in uniform.”

Previously, Boyd served as Communications Director (Minority Staff) of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary. There, Boyd worked extensively with national media, and managed the public response to two high profile nominations to the U.S. Supreme Court. Boyd has also managed or advised multiple successful congressional campaigns.

Boyd earned a B.A. from the University of Alabama’s College of Communication and a J.D. from the University of Alabama School of Law. He lives in the Washington, D.C. area.
